

6516207900.txt

XM Radio provides a market segment the choice of excellent information without the advertising.
Information consumers SHOULD HAVE THAT CHOICE.

Radio has its limitations and reducing people's choice to local legacy sources is not fair and only serves the special interest groups that want to maintain their existing market share at the expense of allowing better technology and better choices so people can have BETTER lives.

Timothy Phillip Reyburn